

TRY SQUEEGEES ON 6TH AVENUE

DR. WOODBURY'S FORCE EXPERIMENT ON THE ASPHALT.

Swabs didn't fit the bill. The surface was too hard and too smooth. The asphalt was too hard and too smooth. The asphalt was too hard and too smooth.

Travelers along Fifth avenue in the neighborhood of the Waldorf-Astoria, were considerably mystified at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning. There were four "white wings" and a section captain on the block between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, two of the comparatively new style motor cars that use compressed air, several photographers and half-a-dozen gawking men on the sidewalks.

A steam automobile drove up and out of it stopped. Street Cleaning Commissioner John McGraw Woodbury. Then two more automobiles arrived, one containing President A. H. Stuart, the other containing the other Paul H. Downing. The compressed air sprinklers went to work and flushed the surface dirt into the gutter for two blocks, from Thirty-second street to Thirty-fourth.

The idea of the whole performance was to demonstrate to automobilists, drivers, the Aldermen and the public generally how asphalt should be cleaned to be made safe. The Aldermen were the only ones not represented at the exhibition. The sprayers were made on Friday for the trial. They were all right, but did not fit the remaining surface. If they had worked properly they could have scraped all the gummy stuff from the surface, and left a bare, footing for horses and a good traction surface for rubber tires. As it was they only touched the high places.

Daylight was visible under the greater part of them. The carts working with side sprays, under compressed air, did very well, however, and the asphalt was so clean that it was not so slippery as usual. The Aldermen's car was stuck upon a curb, and the car was stuck upon a curb, and the car was stuck upon a curb.

From Thirty-second street the Commissioner and the experimenting party went down to Twenty-ninth street and tried the sprayers on asphalt that had been simply sprinkled instead of flushed and squeezed. There it was very slippery and they had to go slowly, and when they turned the rear wheels stuck about in half a circle.

After the tests Commissioner John Woodbury said to a reporter of THE SUN:

"We have learned a few things about asphalt. The method, although the results have not been very good, it was 30 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning and that is only three degrees above the impossible. At 32 degrees the asphalt is not so sticky. There is no radiation this morning and the results of the method cannot be shown to advantage. We will get the streets clean, though, finally, no matter what we have to do. The sprayers are improved and are not suitable."

The sprayer, a board with a rubber wheel, is as old as a ship's deck, but a horse-drawn sprayer is, so far as I know, my own idea. I thought of a plan to meet the trouble. If the rollers in my own will make the sprayer way and run them in a series, one behind the other on the same machine, so that the roller which does not touch the other will. In doing this I will make them more flexible, with the rubber four inches long instead of two inches."

The air pressure of the patent watering carts used is obtained automatically. The water barrel on the cart is air tight with a chamber forward for storing the air that is forced into it and compressed by the normal water pressure as it rushes into the water barrel.

MISSING MAN'S BODY FOUND.
Young Stuart J. Lowery of Utica Shot Himself in the Woods on Onondaga Lake.

Utica, Nov. 8.—The body of Stuart J. Lowery, the young society leader of this city, who had been missing for two weeks, was found in the woods skirting Onondaga Lake last night by a party of searchers. The corpse was sitting against a tree with a bullet hole through the forehead.

Young Lowery graduated from Cornell last year. Two weeks ago he announced his intention of going to Sullivan Beach on Onondaga Lake, twenty-five miles west of this city, to shoot ducks. At the lake Lowery hired a boat, and from that time until the finding of his body last night he had not been seen. It was believed that his boat had been overturned and the young man drowned. A vigorous search of the lake and shore line has been in progress the past two weeks.

Last night while walking along the shore one of the searchers came upon an object which he thought was the body of a man, but which proved to be a hat. A short distance away the body of young Lowery was found. He had been shot by a bullet which had entered his brain through his side. The cause of the death is attributed to ill health and melancholia.

Ensign Owen Made His Overdraft Good.
Two witnesses testified in favor of Ensign Alfred Crosby Owen at the court-martial which was continued in the navy yard in Brooklyn yesterday. Arthur T. Brice of the Riggs National Bank of Washington testified that Ensign Owen had had an account in that bank and had repeatedly overdrafted his account, but had failed to make good the deficiency. John T. Houdrick testified that he had also had a bank account with Ensign Owen, but that the latter had always paid his notes when due except on the last occasion. The court will reconvene to-morrow.

AUTOPSY ON TRANCE PATIENT

SHOWS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO EXPLAIN HER DEATH.

Only Hope of the Doctors is That the Nervous System May Show Some Abnormal Condition.—The Girl's Father Reluctant to Permit the Autopsy.

Unless a microscopic examination should reveal something, and thus the doctors do not expect, the cause of the death of Nellie Corcoran early yesterday morning bids fair to remain undetermined. The girl died after a three weeks' trance in St. Vincent's Hospital in West Eleventh street, and the autopsy was made there yesterday afternoon. Dr. Theodore Janeway, the visiting pathologist of the hospital, directed it, assisted by Drs. George G. Stuart, S. V. Walsh, C. F. McGuire, P. J. Kelly and Stephen Smith of the visiting staff and Drs. Curran and Bouvan of the house force. Dr. Herman Biggs, the Health Department pathologist, was also present. A written permission for the autopsy had been signed by the girl's father, an oral assent being added by the mother. The autopsy lasted for two hours.

No tests were deemed necessary by Dr. Janeway to determine whether the girl was really dead or in a coma. The latter he ruled out by the St. Vincent's house staff, and the fact that the body was cold and as hard as iron upon that point.

He quickly removed first the brain and spinal cord and then afterward the other vital organs.

Dr. Janeway was asked after the autopsy what he had developed.

"The autopsy gives us no data," said he, "on which to form a conclusion as to the cause of the condition that existed during life. The microscopic examination of the nervous system will be made subsequently."

"Will you say something more of the autopsy?" he was asked.

"I do not wish to," answered Dr. Janeway. "It is a very remarkable case."

"A very remarkable case," said he, "from other sources it was learned that the post-mortem showed that the girl's physical condition at the time of her death was certainly good. No gross lesions or no congestions and nothing abnormal of any nature were found. An autopsy presumably would show nothing to confirm or disprove the hysteria and hysterical theories which the hospital staff had declared to be untenable. The starvation theory disposed of by the fact that the girl had frequent nourishment throughout her long trance."

Unless the microscopic examination, which should be completed within a week, unexpectedly shows abnormal conditions in the girl's nervous system, the nature of her fatal illness will remain unsolved.

In accordance with the results of the autopsy the death certificate made out yesterday by the hospital staff read: "Cause of death, not known. With it went a note to the Health Department telling of the facts of the case. This certificate was accepted by the coroner and undertaker G. V. Scully took the body."

Mr. Scully said that the girl would be buried in Calvary Cemetery, probably on Tuesday.

The girl's father hung about the street outside the hospital during the afternoon. As he had been waiting for a long time for the body of his daughter to be taken away, he finally gave his consent.

An afternoon newspaper yesterday told of a long heated conversation between the girl and her mother at midnight yesterday. The story might have been true except for the fact that the girl did not return from her comatose condition for some time before her death.

TOUR OF BRITISH WORKINGMEN.
The Party Starts on Thursday for Buffalo—Delegation Arriving.

It was announced yesterday at the offices of the National Civic Federation that the programme had been completed for the first week of the tour of the British workingmen who are being brought to this country by Alfred Mosley.

The object of the trip is to inspect American manufacturing plants and accumulate information which may be useful to British concerns. The New York Central railroad department has given transportation to the delegates and the offer has been accepted.

Mr. Mosley has been in this country for several days, and some of the delegates have arrived. Two came yesterday on the Umbria. They are W. Dyson of Stockport, representing the paper makers, and W. H. Wilkinson of Accrington, for the weavers. Several others are expected here early this week. Over twenty delegates will come together, but nearly half of them will be in Montreal. Several English newspaper men will also come.

Two members of the delegation who came to New York will start for Buffalo Thursday morning next, but will stop off at Schenectady to inspect the American locomotive and the General Electric Works. They will be in Niagara on Friday, where they will be joined by the party from Montreal. They will inspect the electric plant at Niagara, and from Buffalo they will go to Cleveland.

The party will be in and about Cleveland from Sunday morning to Monday evening, when they will start for Chicago. The delegates will be in New York by the time the annual meeting of the Industrial Department of the National Civic Federation is held, early in December.

DRUGGISTS COMBINE.

United Company to Handle the Patent Medicine Output of Its Members.

A combination of the leading manufacturers of proprietary medicines in the country recently formed under the laws of New Jersey and known as the United Drug Company, began operations yesterday in their temporary laboratory in Boston. The company proposes to handle the patent medicine output of its signatory members, being on the market direct to goods and to do away with the middlemen. At the principal cut-rate druggists of the country, from New York to California are members of the new corporation, and the proprietary remedies now manufactured in the laboratories of the individual drug company will be made up in one place. The new company is organized with a capital of $500,000, with $500,000 in cash paid in.

One of the best-known laboratory men in the country started the work of the new concern to-day, said W. C. Bolton, president of the Bolton Drug Company in Brooklyn, yesterday. He is one of the organizers of the corporation, and one of the 3,000 people employed in the laboratory and the forty members of the corporation, leading druggists and distributors of the medicines, will get their supplies from the Bolton headquarters.

Proprietary medicines will be manufactured by use of less cost than heretofore. Unquestionable merit will be guaranteed, or the money refunded. For instance, we will put on the market a certain preparation with merit guaranteed and the cost of production reduced. We shall be enabled to handle the article at a lower rate and make our usual profit. We mean to advertise in the leading newspapers of a city at the rate of 5,000 inches a day. All the cut-rate druggists, members of the corporation, will be advertised as handling the specialties of the company and the consumer will be better served. The reduction of the expense of the dealer.

"We have been working on this plan for three years and I am glad to announce that it is now perfected and in actual running order."

The officers of the company are: E. D. Cabot, president; E. L. Schenck, first vice-president; James L. Deming, second vice-president; James T. Wetherill, treasurer; and Louis K. Liggett, secretary and general manager. The directors are: W. C. Bolton, H. C. Hall, George C. Lyon and Stephen Hexter.

The company's temporary offices are at 221 Columbus avenue, Boston, Mass.

TRAINED DOGS AND CATS FREE.
Rival Managers Finally Arrive at a Satisfactory Compromise.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 8.—Goolman's trained cats and dogs, which have been employed for nearly a week in the stable of William Mills on Bank street, were set at liberty today. The animals were the objects of a fierce fight between the rival managers from Detroit, Mich. Joseph Goolman is the owner of the trick dogs and cats. He values the cats at $20,000 and the dogs at $10,000. He says that he earns between $500 and $1,000 a week with them. Some time ago William Mills, a theatrical manager in Detroit, made an offer to Goolman to let him have the cats and dogs. Goolman accepted the offer, but soon thereafter Patrick Smith, a rival theatrical manager at the Temple Theatre in Detroit, made a better offer and the latter abandoned Goolman and went with Smith with his cats and dogs. Goolman was with a company in this city when Goolman appeared and placed the cats and dogs under attachment. Smith also hurried to this city and also attached the animals.

Rival constables fought for possession of the animals, but finally agreed to confine the dogs and cats in the stable until the court decided the case. This would probably take months. Goolman ran around the city for several days trying to get the animals back. He was finally successful in getting them back.

The week's confinement showed on the spirits of the animals which had been used to a great deal of exercise each day. For the last two days some of the cats were sick and Goolman was distressed with the fear that they would become sick.

The trouble was amicably settled today when it was agreed that Goolman should show in Croll's theatre at Detroit during the week beginning Nov. 17, and after that should resume his engagement with Smith. Goolman left this city this afternoon with the crates of his valuable cats and dogs.

VIOLATED JIM-CROW CAR LAW.
New Orleans Street-Car Officials in Trouble Because of a New Statute.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 8.—Twenty-three affidavits were filed to-day by District Attorney Gurley in the Criminal Court against President N. H. Pearson, Vice-President C. H. Leslie, Second Vice-President Joseph H. DeGraze and General Manager John G. Woods of the New Orleans Railway company, which operates all the street-car lines of the city, for violating the Jim-Crow car law.

The law requires them to erect screens in their cars, so that the segregation of the whites. The company has violated the law, the penalty for which is a fine of $100 and not more than six months' imprisonment. The law has given rise to great deal of confusion since its passage. The negroes have largely refused to use the cars, and the whites are quick to get under lack of room and have frequently broken the law.

The company against the company's officials will be heard in Monday.

KILLED UNDER FALLING ROCK.

Subway Accident Causes a Row Between a Contractor and an Ambulance Driver.

One man was killed and another seriously injured at noon yesterday by the tilting of one of the buckets used in the subway excavation at Franklin and Elm streets.

Both men were Italian laborers on the subway. The dead man appeared on the tools of the contractors as J. Motta. The injured man was Joe Sabetti of 115 Elizabeth street. Sabetti was hurt about the back and ribs and was taken to Hudson street hospital.

How the accident occurred has not been clearly shown. One theory is that the big bucket was overloaded and the other is that the contractor gave a command to dump the load into the excavation.

The bucket was suspended from a portable crane by a cable. The cable was attached to a building, and was used to convey pieces of rock from the subway to the street surface. Just as it got above the street level with a full load it tilted completely over. The big stones it contained tumbled into the excavation and buried Motta and Sabetti who were working below.

Coroner Scholer, who was in his office in the Criminal Courts Building, was notified. He got to the excavation just before the ambulance arrived. Two came yesterday on the Umbria. They are W. Dyson of Stockport, representing the paper makers, and W. H. Wilkinson of Accrington, for the weavers. Several others are expected here early this week. Over twenty delegates will come together, but nearly half of them will be in Montreal. Several English newspaper men will also come.

They will be in Niagara on Friday, where they will be joined by the party from Montreal. They will inspect the electric plant at Niagara, and from Buffalo they will go to Cleveland.

The party will be in and about Cleveland from Sunday morning to Monday evening, when they will start for Chicago. The delegates will be in New York by the time the annual meeting of the Industrial Department of the National Civic Federation is held, early in December.
